WEEKLY SAFETY STAND DOWN

BACK TO SCHOOL SAFETY

They're back!!!!

Move in week is upon us and the students are excited to be back. This means there will be the normal back-to-school adjustments. Over the summer we have become used to the reduction in population. As the students move in this week, the population will again increase. This means the need to stay alert as we maneuver around and complete work around campus. We are also quickly approaching the start of football season which is an animal of its own.

Safety tips as we transition back to school:

1. Stay alert! Many students are new and therefore lost, as they maneuver this large campus. Other students are distracted and have their attention on their phones. Keep a look out for pedestrians as they are not looking for you. More people mean more pedestrians, scooters, Starship food delivery robots, and traffic.
2. Control your work zones! If you have work to complete that requires tasks that involve work zones such as, open pits or areas, moving equipment, items that could fall on students, or elements that pose a hazard such as hot water (burns) or electricity (shock), ensure you control your work zones. Do not allow students or others to enter your work zone. The work zone is to be blocked off to ensure your safety and theirs. Politely guide anyone who enters your work zone around so everyone stays safe.
3. Plan for an uptick in work orders. We are already busy as it is, and I know it can be hard to plan for everything. Plan to be ready. Inspect your tools, PPE, equipment, and vehicles. Make sure you are ready to respond to all of the incoming work load. Also, plan for breaks. We are busy but we also need to make sure we take a break so we can stay focused. Staying focused can reduce injuries.
4. Teamwork! Keep an eye on each other and work safely. Take care of each other.

Hopefully, the transition back to back-to-school will be smooth and it can be if we work through it safely!
